Green Istria

Green Istria is a non-profit citizen association which is committed to the protection of the environment and natural resources, and works to build a society that upholds principles of social justice. For 25 years Green Istria has actively participated in the building of a society that is sustainable in terms of democracy, solidarity, and the environment.

Introduction

OUR STORY

NGO Green Istria is part of the Rojc Alliance and situated in Community Center Rojc. Rojc is a singular “place of civil society,” an alternative urban culture center situated in a small town called Pula, Croatia,

BACKGROUND

Rojc hosts 110 associations with very different activities: culture and art, sports and recreation, children and youth, ethnic minorities, psychosocial work, etc. Rojc is an incubator of many projects and activities with aim of sustainable development: from urban gardening, reuse flea markets, DIY upcycling workshops, promoting sharing communities etc.

Repair cafe
Re-Geppetto
- circular community and art

Repair cafe Re-Geppetto is a new place in our Community center Rojc where citizens can repair objects and devices for free on a do-it-yourself principle. They can repair appliances, items, furniture, clothes and toys on their own or with the help of volunteers and our workshop manager.

Give-box

A stylized sun illustration in a light orange color. It features a circular center with a textured, radiating pattern, surrounded by several small, teardrop-shaped rays. The sun is positioned behind the text "Give-box".

Give-box

Give-box - a place where people leave things they don't need: clothes, books, DVDs, electrical appliances, toys, dishes... and take the things they need.

In collaboration with several schools from the Istrian County, we initiated the construction and use of give boxes in school buildings.

Cooking with leftover food

Cooking with leftover food

Green Istria organized several events and workshops with the aim of raising awareness about food waste.

We displayed the amount of food every citizens throws away yearly and organized public cooking and workshops with recipes for using food leftovers.
